

International Service-Learning Workshop

Engaging the World: Developing a Campus-Wide Approach to International Service-Learning

March 1–2, 2006
Indianapolis, Indiana

The International Partnership for Service-Learning and Leadership in collaboration with IPSL's Distinguished Partner
Indiana University–Purdue University at Indianapolis

The workshop is structured for institutional teams of faculty and administrators from colleges and universities to develop campus plans for international service-learning programs and courses for their students. In order to gain maximum benefit from participating in the workshop, the team of 3-5 individuals should include key leaders and campus administrators from study-abroad programs, international affairs, and service-learning programs as well as key faculty members.

Plenary and breakout sessions will focus on essential elements in constructing and operating international service learning courses and programs abroad. Proposed topics include:

- Developing a strategic plan for the campus/broadening the civic engagement mission from local to global
- Defining and organizing international partnerships
- Curriculum design, including reflection, for international service-learning courses
- Legal, visa and other administrative challenges
- Uses of technology for orientation, reflection, program development
- Cross-cultural issues including different understandings of service around the world
- Scholarships and Financial Aid
- Programs for graduate and professional students
- Faculty development strategies
- Coordinating study abroad and service learning offices
- Engaging the disciplines

Dates: The workshop will begin on Wednesday early afternoon, March 1, 2006 and conclude mid-afternoon on Thursday, March 2, 2006.
